LANDPAC has been established as a ground improvement specialist company in strategic parts of the world, with its head office based in South Africa. Our traditional business model is based on a strategic decision to establish and prove, in several applications, an alternative ground improvement method to the conventional methodologies better known in the industry.

Strategy

LANDPAC’s strategy is to become a leader and first choice provider of alternative ground improvement products and services in the strata up to 5m below the surface. This shall be done through selected global markets with suitable soil conditions, with a focus on customers who will reap the greatest benefits from our products and services.

Core Values

- We believe in maintaining our high level of credibility in the market.
- We believe in building long term relationships with our customers through the provision of value engineered services.
- We believe in treating our customers with respect and faith.
- We grow through creativity, invention and innovation.
- We integrate honesty, integrity and business ethics into all aspects of our business.
Key Processes

LANDPAC’s key processes are uniquely aimed at ensuring that the full benefit of the technologies are passed onto the client. The core focus area is to provide the client with a value engineered solution. In order to achieve this, LANDPAC is committed to its key areas of excellence, which include:

- Developing programs and practices that will access and educate decision makers on extracting the full benefit of the technologies on offer;
- Optimizing the distribution of our services to the widest possible audience;
- Continuously developing the technologies and their applications in the field; and
- Excelling in the management of our involvement on projects, ensuring that we deliver on our commitments.

Continuous Focus & Improvement

LANDPAC will develop and nurture its intellectual property by attracting and retaining the appropriate skills base to support the strategy, underpinned by our innovative and energetic spirit, characterized by not being entirely satisfied with the status quo. Through continuous technical education and support, our ability to provide superior ground improvement with value added solutions that deliver competent bearing strata with low life cycle costs will be demonstrated.

Reach-Presence

At present, LANDPAC reaches Europe through its UK and Germany based companies, the Australasian market through its Australian based company, the African market through its South African based head office, the North and South American market through its Colorado based company in the USA, the Middle Eastern (including Dubai and Abu Dhabi) market through its Dubai based company and other markets through joint venture/partnership companies.
